ARTIST HIGHLIGHTS

MAYA DELILAH 7/25

A 24-year-old singer, songwriter and guitarist from North London, Maya Delilah attended the prestigious BRIT School whose alumni include Adele, Amy Winehouse, and FKA twigs. In 2020, Maya turned to livestreams and TikTok where she built up a devoted following with unadorned clips where she would sit cross-legged, her fingernails dancing over the strings, making the guitar sing out whole moods. Over the course of two self-released EPs, she amassed more than 50 million streams of fan favorites like "Breakup Season" and "Tangerine Dream" that greeted heartache with humor.

CAUZ BECKHAM AND THE BREAKERS 7/28

In 2025, the 21-year-old son of a Spice Girl and a soccer legend, Cruz Beckham, debuted with his band The Breakers. Tracks like "OPTICS" and "for your love" combine modern indie-rock with the nostalgia of 90's BritPop and a hint of The Beatles. This newly found foursome has made their way to becoming a group to truly watch out for. Making this summer your perfect chance to see Cruz Beckham and The Breakers live at The Atlantis!

BABE RAINBOW 7/29

From the heart of the Australian psych scene, country-pop rockers, Babe Rainbow, return with their seventh studio album "Acid and Honey". Exciting dance beat production backs wailing vocals on solid hip-hop, hard rock, and funky grooves while featuring some of the heaviest Babes material to date. Built from their traditional mix of folk and psychedelic sounds, the new record also taps on the shoulders of reggae, electronica, and country but comes together distinctly Babe Rainbow.

WILD CHILD 8/1

Wild Child is the Austin-born songwriting partnership of Kelsey Wilson and Alexander Beggins, a duo whose chemistry has powered more than a decade of acclaimed indie-folk releases and spirited live shows. What began as a spontaneous creative spark in the back of a tour van evolved into one of Austin's most beloved bands, known for warm harmonies, candid storytelling, and an ever-evolving blend of folk, pop, and soulful brass-driven arrangements.

RIFF WOOD 8/5

Riff Wood is a rock band from Davis County, Utah composed of best friends Carson Groves, Hyrum Russon, and Asher "Shredder" Winegar. Born from a shared love of music, the trio started rocking out together at the age of 11. Riff Wood is independently producing their debut full-length album "Tough Luck", showcasing their unique sound and love of rock music. Isaac Dabb has also been added as the band's live bassist, bringing additional flare and energy to the stage. With friendship as their foundation and a passion for rock driving them forward, Riff Wood is on a mission to take the stage and make their mark on the music world.
